Wednesdays: January 18 - March 21, 2012

Looking for a new and exciting way to volunteer? Jefferson Patterson Park & Museum (JPPM) is recruiting docents for our 2012 class. If you are a lifelong learner this may be just the program for you! The ten-week training course will cover many topics including: an introduction to archaeology, the War of 1812, JPPM's Indian Village, and much more! After completing the initial training course, JPPM docents further the educational mission of the Park by offering regular, high-quality interpretive services for the public in support of annual programs, workshops, and exhibits.

Class size is limited and registration is required.

Tuition and fees are $15.
